

CLC Applications Now Open!

The Curriculum Leaders Collaborative \(CLC\) was a huge success in its first year and is coming back again this school year! Here's what the first year participants are saying about it:

- "It is a chance for the school leaders to think systematically about their approaches, without interruption of day-to-day activities."
- "If your district needs a high level of change, this professional development is essential."
- "If you want to feel more effective and efficient in your efforts, and feel that you are making progress with the hours of work you are putting in, then CLC is an important step."

Additionally, over 96% of year one participants agreed that the CLC met its goals and will improve student outcomes.

If you would like to benefit from learning how implementation science and evidence-based problem solving techniques can improve your local initiatives, then join the second cohort of the CLC taking place this school year (2017-18SY)! Below are some quick facts about this coming cohort:

Each day of training will run from 9am - 5pm with 90 minutes for lunch, which will be "on your own."
- Who: 3-4 District leadership staff (Chief Academic Officer, Executive Director for Curriculum and Instruction, Career and Technical Education Director, EC Director, MTSS Coordinators, etc.), Principals, and/or any individuals responsible for implementing district-wide or school-wide initiatives. A separate Charter Schools Cohort will be announced at the end of 2017.
